— How the Key Ingredients Work

Silver Shield BioGuard Hand & Body Cream brings together time-honored botanicals and skin-loving nutrients in one rich, everyday formula — working together to help keep skin feeling clean, comfortable, and deeply cared for.

Colloidal Silver — Tiny silver particles suspended in water have been used for generations as a natural way to support surface cleanliness. In this cream, colloidal silver helps create an environment on the skin that feels fresh and protected, making it a fitting first line of everyday defense for hands and body.

Coconut Oil — Pressed from the meat of fresh coconuts, this deeply moisturizing oil has been a skin-care staple across tropical cultures for centuries. Its natural fatty acids help soften and smooth the skin while also lending gentle antifungal support, and its natural antioxidants help defend skin cells from everyday environmental wear.

Vitamin E — Known as the skin's favorite fat-soluble protector, vitamin E works right inside cell membranes to help neutralize the free radicals that can dull and age skin over time. It supports a healthy antioxidant environment at the surface level, leaving skin looking and feeling more resilient after daily exposure to sun, wind, and stress.

Hyaluronic Acid — Your skin already makes hyaluronic acid naturally — it's one of the key reasons young skin looks so plump and dewy. As a cream ingredient, it acts like a moisture magnet, helping the skin hold onto water and stay supple throughout the day. It also plays a recognized role in the body's natural wound-healing and tissue-repair processes.

Aloe Vera — A classic soothing botanical that has been applied to irritated and sun-exposed skin for thousands of years. Aloe's cooling gel-like nature helps calm redness and discomfort, supports the skin's own recovery process, and delivers a light layer of hydration without feeling heavy or greasy — perfect for everyday hand and body use.

Shea Butter — Harvested from the nut of the African shea tree, shea butter is rich in nourishing fatty acids and natural plant compounds that have long been prized for softening rough, dry skin. It melts gently on contact with body heat, forming a protective layer that helps lock in moisture and keep skin feeling smooth and comfortable all day.

Jojoba Oil — Technically a liquid wax rather than an oil, jojoba closely mimics the skin's own natural sebum, which is why it absorbs so readily without clogging pores. Native to the Sonoran Desert, jojoba has a long history of use for conditioning skin and hair. It helps balance moisture levels and leaves a silky, non-greasy finish on the skin.

Green Tea Extract — Green tea leaves are loaded with natural plant polyphenols — compounds that have been studied for their ability to support the skin's defenses against oxidative stress caused by sun and pollution. Applied topically, green tea extract helps give skin an extra layer of antioxidant support, contributing to a healthier, more even-looking complexion over time.
