— How the Key Ingredients Work

Enviro-Detox brings together a carefully chosen blend of herbs, botanicals, and a probiotic to help your body's natural cleansing pathways, support healthy digestion, and provide everyday antioxidant protection. Each ingredient plays its own role, and together they work as a team to help you feel your best from the inside out.

Milk Thistle — Milk thistle has been treasured for centuries as a go-to herb for liver and digestive wellness. Its active compounds are well studied for their ability to help protect cells from everyday oxidative stress, support healthy antioxidant levels in the body, and assist with normal upper digestive comfort — making it a cornerstone of any cleansing formula.

Dandelion — That familiar backyard weed is actually a powerhouse of wellness support. Dandelion leaf and root are rich in beneficial plant compounds that act as antioxidants, and a published human study found dandelion leaf extract has a meaningful diuretic effect — helping the body flush fluids naturally. It also provides potassium, a mineral that supports healthy vascular function.

Burdock — Burdock root has a long history in both traditional Chinese and European herbalism as a cleansing and skin-supportive herb. Human clinical research shows that drinking burdock root tea daily for six weeks significantly raised the body's total antioxidant capacity and reduced markers of inflammation in study participants. It has also been used traditionally to support clear, healthy-looking skin.

Echinacea Purpurea — Best known for its immune-supporting reputation, Echinacea purpurea is backed by multiple clinical trials and systematic reviews showing it can help reduce the duration and severity of respiratory infections. Its well-characterized antioxidant compounds — including caffeic acid derivatives — also help the body manage everyday oxidative stress, making it a valuable addition to a wellness-focused formula.

Sarsaparilla — Sarsaparilla has been used by traditional healers across the Americas and Asia for centuries to support joint comfort, skin health, and overall vitality. Modern laboratory and animal research confirms that its flavonoid compounds have meaningful antioxidant and anti-inflammatory activity. It is also recognized for its immunomodulatory properties, meaning it may help the body maintain a balanced immune response.

Bacillus Coagulans — A healthy gut is central to feeling well, and Bacillus coagulans is a resilient, spore-forming probiotic that survives the journey to your intestines. Clinical trials and meta-analyses show it can help ease abdominal discomfort and support a balanced digestive system. Research also points to benefits for mood and comfort, with one trial noting reduced anxiety scores in participants who took it regularly.

Yellow Root — Yellow root is a native North American shrub whose roots and rhizomes have been used in traditional herbalism for generations. It contains berberine, a well-researched plant compound supported by multiple clinical studies for helping maintain healthy blood sugar levels already in the normal range and for reducing markers of inflammation such as CRP. It also shows antioxidant activity in both lab and animal research.
